Residential Case notes – Incidents of Specific concern

- A "type of note" is on Mosaic, for the exclusive use of Children's Residential Services is available to differentiate the "day to day recording" from incidents of specific concern.
- This case note type will enable an easier search of case notes by use of the "Case notes", "Find/amend" option.
- This note type "Children's Residential Incident" should be used for all entries that would previously have been recorded as a separate incident log/report. This could have been a report of a serious incident, an SR3/5 report, a restraint, or a breakaway for example.
- The use of Mosaic for the recording of incidents does NOT mean that you no longer need to record in the restraint record book, or the breakaway book – this is still mandatory. However, units will no longer need to hold a separate incident log.
- Records of this note type should comprehensively describe the incident in line with the format you are familiar with when writing on the incident form, (antecedents, behaviour and consequences etc.). As per unit guidelines these framework entries, replacing separate incident reports may require an amendment on the Mosaic Risk Assessment document. They will certainly require an entry on individual children's risk assessment review forms that amendments have been considered.
- Managers should note that when indicating that they have read a worker's case note or wish to add a comment to an existing case note this should be added to the case note by clicking on the append case note icon .
- Managers should NOT create a new and separate case note. This method will allow the reader to be aware of what management action has been taken following an incident.
